RESOLVED, That no such Accompt be received after that Day.

ORDERED, That the said Order and Resolution be published in the Gazette, that the Parties concerned may have Notice.

CHILDERMAS CROFT, C.D.C.

NEW-YORK, October 6.

OUR last accounts from Oswego, are between the 8th and 12th of September last, which say, that they talk'd then of setting out very soon, but whither, even some of the chief officers knew not. That there had not been above 2 or 3 days for near a fortnight before the date of these accounts, in which battoes could swim on the lake, where the surge rises almost as high as on the beach of the ocean. That they did not abound with provisions in the camp, and in particular rum, an article necessary (if ever so) on action, and in cold weather.

Boston, Sept 29. Wednesday last an officer arrived here from general Johnson's army near the Lake George, with letters from the general for this government. He left the camp the 17th instant, and says there has been no engagement with the enemy since that of the 8th. That col. Blanchard was gone with a strong detachment from the army, to begin the building of a fort at the Carrying-place. That parties from the camp were daily sent out to discover the enemy's slain, and to pick up arms, &c. and that they found a great number of dead bodies in swamps and holes, which they had carried off on biers, 40 of which were found all bloody at the side of a pond. And that the batteaux, and other things necessary for accommodating the army in its further progress, were getting ready with the utmost dispatch.

By last saturday's post came letters from his excellency general Shirley, dated Oswego the 9th instant, informing, that he was in good health, and proposed to embark on his intended expedition in a very few days.

By the latest vessels from Halifax, we have advice, that our people have about 1200 of the Neutrals on board their transports, and that 1000 or 1200 men, French and Indians, among which are 300 regulars, are encamped on a rising ground, with a flag of defiance flying.

Halifax, Sept. 6. On tuesday last 3 of the French ships taken by admiral Holbourn, arrived here. And next day arrived the 4th.

It is reported, that admiral Holbourn has taken 3 other French vessels, since the 4 already arrived here; one of which being very old, and only in her ballast, he sunk; another, having the small-pox on board, he put the crews belonging to the other 2 in her, and sent her into Louisbourg; the 3d he saw fit to detain.

It is also reported, that admiral Holbourn has taken 40 sail of French fishing shallops, 39 of which he destroyed; and having put all the hands on board the 40th, he sent her into Louisbourg, with directions to inform the governor, that if he wanted fresh fish, he must send out his men of war for them.

Halifax, Sept. 20. On tuesday last his majesty's ship Port Mahon arrived here, with 3 French snows, prizes; one of which was taken by his majesty's sloop Baltimore, in her passage from this place for the fleet, and the other 2 by part of admiral Holbourn's squadron, just as they were entering the harbour of Louisbourg: One of them was a packet from France, laden chiefly with wine; one from Martinico with rum and melasses; and the other from St. Eustatia with provisions.

Boston, October 13. Tho' the affairs of our army at Oswego have gone on deliberately, we doubt not they will end happily. Our forces in and near that fort may be reckoned about 2400—besides carpenters, &c. and 4 armed vessels upon the lake. There certainly was never a more lucky season for making ourselves masters of all the passes on Ontario; a thing of prodigious importance to the British interest. By papers and other accounts since the late battle, we find, that the French, alarm'd with the sound of a great army coming to Crown-Point, have turned their chief attention that way: Not only their regulars, but their Indians and Militia have been employed to oppose general Johnson; and doubtless their late defeat will induce them to call more of their force from other places to lake Champlain. This looks as if they were not very strong either at Frontenac or Niagara. Now then is the nick of time for striking a blow to the Westward; and if Washington be ready with his 1000 men, undoubtedly he will strike it this winter.

We hear, that some of our men who were lately sent out as scouts from the camp near lake George, had been as far as within sight of the fort at Crown-Point, and, keeping themselves undiscovered to make what observations they could, saw a number of French and Indians, supposed to be 500, at work upon an intrenchment at a small distance from the fort; and that upon their return, in the road thro' which the French retreated, they saw a number of dead bodies and guns scattered about.—And that likewise at Ticonderoga, they discovered a number, which they supposed to be 8 or 900, building a blockade.

New-Haven, October 11. A report prevails here, that many of our men are coming back from the camp, and that it is now doubtful, whether our expedition will proceed against Crown Point this fall or not; on this report we are told, many of the good women of this colony are so enraged, that they declare if their husbands come back without attacking the French in their intrenchments, they shall not come near them; but that instead of receiving them with joy, they will fling their pease-pots at their heads, as unworthy the name of New England men.

New-York, October 20. His excellency Sir Charles Hardy, our governor, we are assured, is extremely indefatigable at Albany in sending away the waggons with provisions and necessaries for the forces in the North; himself being frequently present to give orders, and to see things put up in the best manner.

The honourable Thomas Pownall, Esq; lieutenant governor of the Jerseys, set out this day for the city of Albany.

His majesty's ship Garland, of 20 guns, Capt. Arbuthnot, arrived here on tuesday last in 4 days from Virginia. She has on board cash for the king's forces; and came convoy to a schooner loaded with arms and cloathing for Dunbar's and Hacket's regiments, now gone to Albany.

Col. Dunbar and his forces are to join Mr Johnson.

A French 64 gun ship, which escaped from admiral Boscawen, is put into Martinico

Extract of a Letter from Reading, in Berks County, October 20.

"We hear this day that 6 people are scalp'd near George Gabriel's mill, on the other side of Susquehannah, about 82 miles from this town. It is told us by a credible person who came from the neighbourhood, and we expect to have a confirmation of the unhappy news soon."

New York October 27. Wednesday last being the 25th of the month, our most gracious sovereign's anniversary coronation day, it was observed here with the usual rejoicings. His majesty's ships the Sphinx and Garland, lying in the North river, saluted the day by a royal discharge of 21 guns each; and at night, illuminations, firing, &c. concluded our loyalty for that 24 hours.

Col Dunbar with his forces, are safe arrived at Albany. And since our last, numbers of house carpenters have been sent to the Northward to build barracks, &c. for the use of the forces during the cold season.

His excellency our governor, and the gentlemen with him, still continue at Albany; are in health, and very assiduous in the public affairs.

Baron de Dieskau, the French major-general, taken by general Johnson, and who by Lewis of France is allowed a pension of 4000 livres per annum; was brought down prisoner from Albany on monday afternoon last, to this city; and about 9 o'clock at night, to avoid a crowd of people assembled to see him, he was landed, and carried to lodgings prepared for him in Nassau street, where he now lies dangerously ill of his wounds. His aid de camp is with him.

Friday last, a sloop from New-England, having on board a large number of sheep passed by here for Albany.

Albany, October 16. Forty four of our waggons coming home from lake George, with a guard of 25 men, met 5 French men (belonging to Dieskau's regular forces) standing along side of the road: Our men surrounded them, when they club'd their fire-locks, and surrendered. They had no food whatsoever with them; and reported that the French army at the Narrows, Ticonderago, and Crown point, were well furnished with provisions, and were building several fascine batteries.

Boston, October 27. Last week an express arrived here from Oswego, by which we learn, that major-general Shirley had laid aside the intended expedition to Frontenac and Niagara, and that the 3 regiments under his immediate command, were to take up their winter quarters at Oswego. We are not a little startled at this advice, as we flatter'd ourselves that the 3 regiments with him, together with the Indians and rangers, were more than sufficient to have carried both Frontenac and Niagara, inasmuch as col. Dunbar and his regiments were not ordered up in Season to that service. We presume not to pry into the secret reasons of this conduct, but are obliged to suppose from the acknowledged wisdom and resolution of those who framed and conducted the expedition, and the great charge to the crown with which it has been attended, that they are very substantial ones.

At the same time an express arrived from the camp at lake George, by which we learn, that our forces there, were not likely immediately to proceed to Crown Point. Tho' a general suspicion of this has for some time prevailed, this intelligence has thrown us into great consternation. And it is to be hoped, that the several colonies concerned in this most important and expensive expedition, will make the reasons of this strange delay, the matter of a most serious enquiry.

By Capt. Dogget who arrived last saturday in fifteen days from Chigoe&c, we are informed, that the Capts. Rous and Shirley were arrived there. That Col. Winslow had taken and shipped 1500 neutrals on board the transports prepared for that purpose. And that 86 neutrals had dug out of fort Lawrence in the night, and made their escape, and gone over to the enemy, who 'tis reckoned are 5 or 600 strong.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Charles-Town, November 1st, 1755.

☞ Who has a very good harpsichord with 3 stops (viz. a Unison, and an Octave) to dispose of.

WILLIAMSBURGH, October 20.

BY an express just arrived from fort Cumberland, we are informed, that 150 Indians have lately appeared in that neighbourhood and have killed and captivated upwards of 20 families: Colonel Washington, who was on his way down hither when the express overtook him, immediately returned, to take upon him the command of such of the recruits as are already raised, in order to go in pursuit of them.

Annapolis, October 16. From the back parts of Frederick county, we learn, that the people are constantly flocking in, in great numbers, to the more thick settled parts of the country.

Philadelphia, October 30. Tuesday last Capt. Lyon arrived here from London. He left Plymouth the 15th of September, and says, that that day his majesty was expected to arrive in England from Hanover: That on the 23d of August orders for making reprisals on the French were publickly read on board all the ships of admiral Hawke's fleet, in the bay of Biscay: And that accordingly a great number of their vessels have been taken by our men of war, and carried into Plymouth, Portsmouth, &c. where they will be properly looked after.

Extract of a Letter from Barbados, dated September 26, 1755

"We had a flag of truce here a few days ago from Martinico, with a letter from the French general to our president, which I have seen, and I think I never saw one more insolent. The purport of it was, that the English having invaded his master's dominions in North America, and taken 2 of his men of war, in the time of peace, he could do no less than take possession of St. Lucia, and that he had sent over a number of men and guns to fortify it. He added further, that he made no doubt when the English had conquered North America, they would make a descent on Martinico, which he was resolved to take proper care to defend.

New York, November 3. General Shirley is hourly expected at Albany, with a company of grenadiers belonging to his regiment, which are, we are told, to be quartered in fort George, in this city, during the winter season.

A general Congress of all the English Governors on the Northern Continent of America, is appointed to be held here on the 10th or 15th Instant. Novemb.

Boston, Nov. 3. Yesterday several transport vessels arrived in our harbour from Nova Scotia, with French people from that province, who are to be disposed of amongst us, but in what way or manner we cannot yet say.
